

WORKING TOWARDS SCIENTIFIC EXCELLENCE AND INTERNATIONAL LEADERSHIP

Training programme in strategy and operations management for research units and centres of excellence

(GESCI & GOSCI)

COMBINING STRATEGY AND TALENT

Do you want to guide your research centre or unit towards scientific-technological excellence and international leadership?

Are you able to anticipate change and manage available resources in an efficient and strategic manner?

Do you know how to build long-term competitive advantages and develop the talent your organization will require tomorrow?

A pioneering high-level training initiative in Spain

GESCI & GOSCI

An initiative promoted by the Galician Department of Education, University and Vocational Training, in collaboration with Feuga and comprising two programmes:

GESCI (Strategic Management of Research Centres and Units)

GOSCI (Operational Management in Research Centres and Units)

Specifically targeting and designed for research environments.

Aimed at ensuring the ongoing improvement, excellence and international leadership of Galicia's research centres and units.

It includes a teaching panel, made up of Spanish and international professionals who are leading authorities in their areas of expertise.

GESCI Directors

GESCI is a training initiative designed for research centre and unit directors, enabling them to:

Develop strategies to handle new framework challenges and growing international competition for acquiring resources, talent and opportunities.

Boost the efficiency and modernization of research institutions and promote scientific and institutional assessment as key tools for ongoing improvement.

GOSCI Managers

GOSCI is a programme designed specifically for research centre and unit managers, enabling them to:

Improve the efficiency and internal organization of their organisations.

Support management-driven change and contribute from their area of activity to the excellence and scientific-technological leadership of their institutions.
